

Gain Complete Control Over Your Supply Chain Management

Managing clinical investigational product (IP) inventory is one of the most complex and critical aspects of clinical trials and commercialization. Signant's SmartSignals Supplies platform digitalizes and centralizes clinical supply management from end to end with cloud-based forecasting, planning, production, and distribution modules. By optimizing IP visibility, control, traceability, and compliance, sponsors can eliminate the guesswork and inefficiencies from clinical IP inventory management.

Optimize Spend

Our accurate forecasting and production planning tools help you manufacture just what your study requires.

Gain Real-Time Visibility

The clinical supply chain system integrates with CMOs, external inventory systems, and reporting platforms for reliable updates.

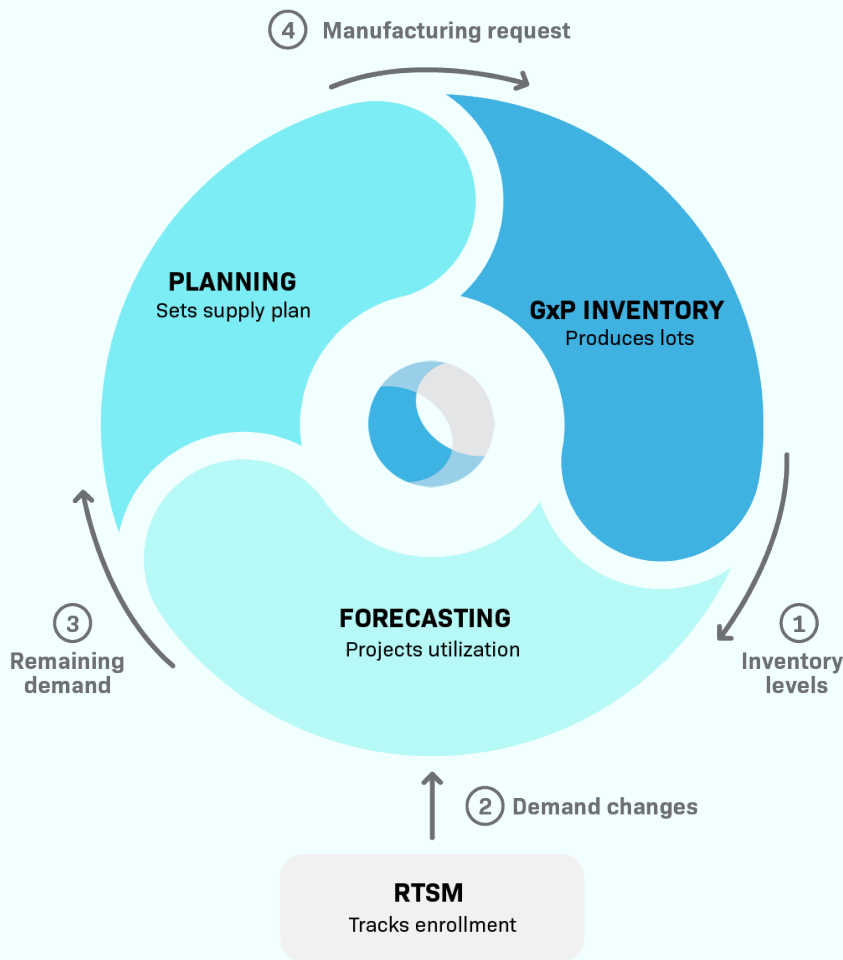

Guarantee Compliance

A fully GxP and 21 CFR Part 11 compliant history of all inventory transactions is available at the touch of a button.

Why choose SmartSignals® Supplies?

- 1 Signant SmartSignals Supplies is cloud-based to ensure optimal performance and availability.
- 2 System flexibility allows long and short range forecasting with varying degrees of information.
- 3 The mobile app recognizes any barcode to select supplies faster, even without knowing where they are in the process.
- 4 Our flexible, user-friendly interface allows you to choose the approach that works best for you as well as incrementally add the level of detail as more protocol information becomes available.
- 5 Time stamps and e-signatures provide a full audit trail that helps you meet compliance.
- 6 Full traceability lets you hold, recall, and replace supplies.
